Monthly Commentary

The S USD share class returned 1.2% in May, equating to a +12.7% (net) performance since-inception.²

The positive performance was primarily driven by day-one valuation uplifts on two LP-led secondary investments completed during the month, alongside continued net accruals across the existing portfolio.

PGCS committed to five new investments in June:

- Saturn: LP secondary solution providing exposure to four funds across four North American managers, comprising ~154 senior, subordinated and opportunistic loans.
- Balance: LP secondary solution offering access to two seasoned portfolios across two European managers, comprising ~150 predominantly senior secured loans.
- Aqua: GP liquidity solution providing exposure to a seasoned portfolio of ~35 predominantly senior secured North American middle market direct lending assets.
- Sapling: GP liquidity solution anchoring a newly established European direct lending joint venture with a leading global asset manager, providing ongoing exposure to senior secured assets.
- Computer: Co-investment alongside a leading mid-market specialist, providing senior secured exposure to a North American information technology business.

Market sentiment in June was shaped by a shift in central bank tone. The Fed held rates at 3.50-3.75% but signalled a possible rate hike later in 2026, a move markets had not fully anticipated.^{3,4} The ECB moved more decisively, raising its deposit rate by 25bps to 2.25%, its first hike since September 2023, citing persistent inflationary pressures stemming from the ongoing Middle East conflict.⁵ Public credit markets remained broadly stable month on month, with high-yield and investment-grade spreads continuing to trade at historically tight levels.^{6,7}

Fitch reported that the U.S. private credit default rate rose to 6.0% for the twelve months ended June, a new record, with stress concentrated in weaker, more leveraged credits across specific sectors.⁸ This dispersion across managers, vintages and credit quality continues to reinforce the case for broad portfolio diversification and disciplined underwriting. Given this environment, having access to a wide range of GPs and strategies, alongside the ability to re-underwrite assets independently, apply structural protections, and enter at favourable prices, are the factors we see as increasingly important drivers of performance.⁹

Key Risk Warnings – Prospective Investors should refer to the Prospectus for full details of all risks

Performance Risk	Investment objectives express an intended result but there is no guarantee that such a result will be achieved. Depending on market conditions and the macro-economic environment, investment objectives may become more difficult to achieve. Any past performance shown does not predict future returns and future performance is not guaranteed, loss of principal may occur. Market and exchange rate movements may cause the capital value of investments, and the income from them, to go down as well as up and an investor may not get back the amount originally invested.
Currency Risk	Currency fluctuations may have an adverse effect on the value price or income of the product which may increase or decrease as a result of changes in exchange rates.
Tax Risk	Prospective investors should note that the tax treatment of each investor, and of any investment, depends on individual circumstances and may be subject to change in the future
Leverage Risk	The Fund's performance will be affected by the availability and terms of any leverage as such leverage will enhance returns from investments to the extent such returns exceed the costs of borrowings by the Fund. The leveraged capital structure of such assets will increase their exposure to certain factors such as rising interest rates, downturns in the economy, or deterioration in the financial condition of such assets or industry.
Diversification Risk	The Fund may be concentrated in a limited number of geographical regions, industry sectors, markets and/or individual positions. This may result in large changes in the value of the fund, both up or down.
Liquidity risk	The Fund may impose restrictions on any requests by investors to redeem their Shares, and/or impose early redemption charges. In extreme circumstances the Fund may modify or suspend the redemption program if the Portfolio Manager deems this to be in the best interest of the Fund and its investors.
Conflicts Risk	There may be occasions when the Fund, AIFM and certain affiliates will encounter potential conflicts of interest in connection with the activities of the Fund, including for example in relation to the allocation of investment opportunities and the interests of various Fund investors.

Benefits and Risks of Investing in Pantheon Global Credit Secondaries Fund

Benefits	Risks
Performance
We believe PGCS has the potential to generate attractive returns by investing, directly or indirectly through acquiring interests in funds and companies, in a concentrated global portfolio of high-quality and mature companies managed by general partners Pantheon knows well.	- There is no assurance that PGCS will be able to invest its capital with attractive terms or generate returns for investors; returns, if any, may be unpredictable. - These target returns are hypothetical, and the assumptions used to establish such returns may materially differ from actual events and conditions and returns may differ. There can be no assurance as to the availability of co-investment opportunities, whether alongside any Pantheon-managed fund or otherwise.
Investment Exposure
PGCS seeks to provide exposure to (i) an institutional fund portfolio which incorporates LP led secondaries, co-investment opportunities and primaries and (ii) a seed portfolio containing select investments in LP led secondaries, co-investment opportunities and primary deals, and shall benefit from a proactive, diversified approach to portfolio construction.	Ongoing management and oversight of investments will be reliant on investment decision making of the AIFM. There is no guarantee that any of the seed portfolio deals outlined will closed or that the desired allocations will be achieved for PGCS.
Investment Approach
In managing PGCS, Pantheon will leverage its general experience of 40 plus years in managing private equity funds, including 37 years in the evergreen fund space with a large global team of investment professionals that have 400 plus years of combined experience.	Past performance and experience does not predict future returns. There can be no assurance that any Pantheon-managed fund or investment will achieve its objectives or avoid substantial losses as compared to previous Pantheon-managed funds. There can be no assurance that any Pantheon employee will remain employed by Pantheon in future. The availability and performance of Pantheon staff and expertise is subject to change over time.
Investment Features
- PGCS has low minimum investment thresholds and offers monthly subscriptions and limited quarterly redemptions. - Pantheon expects PGCS to be fully funded at close with no future capital calls for investors, as is common with other private funds.	- Redemptions and subscriptions are subject to the discretion of the AIFM and potential redemption limits, deductions or lock-ups depending on the share class purchased and therefore no assurances can be provided as to the liquidity of PGCS's Shares and potential investors should be aware that they may not be able to access their invested amounts. - Failure to make the required subscription purchase following a subscription request may mean forfeiture any of investment opportunity for an investor. A material number of investors failing to make their subscription purchase could also result in PGCS failing to meet any capital calls or required investment amount applicable to participating in an investment. Such a default by PGCS could lead to the permanent loss of all or some of PGCS's investment, which would have a material adverse effect on the investment returns for non-defaulting investors participating in such investment.
